Re: CalOES Non-profit security grant information side deck

On Monday September 18 I attended the Houses of Worship Safety Symposium in Chico hosted by The Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) and the Chico Police Department.

Tom Ducker, a Critical Infrastructure Lead with the State Threat Assessment Center made a short presentation about the CalOES non-profit security grant, which is accepting applications until October 27.

The presentation covered important changes in this grant, including the number of applications an organization can submit (2), the total amount that can be requested ($250,000 per application), and allowable costs which now include up to $100,000 for construction or renovation to support target hardening efforts. Previously the grant only allowed for expenses related to equipment installation, not actual construction costs.

Ducker's presentation also included an overview of the grant's applications forms.

I have included a link to the slide deck for this presentation and encourage anyone applying for this grant to review the material provided.
